Gmail Eric Newman <[redacted]>

Touching base

1 message

william veach <[redacted]> Thu, Apr 1, 2010 at 10:53 PM
To: [redacted]

Hi Eric: "Happy New Year"! (a little late) I've been inquiring around, to the British museum and to the Royal Canadian Numismatic Association (a Mr. Bret Evans). He has just today put me with a Coin News magazine Editor, Mr. John Mussell to help investigate my little Queen Victoria school award medal. Seems that no one has ever seen another like it, anywhere.
Hope you are for the health reform legislation. It should be an improvement for most folks. They just don't know it yet. Stay well. And e-mail me back when you get the time. Sincerely,
William

Gmail Eric Newman <[redacted]>

salutations from william veach

4 messages

william veach <[redacted]> Tue, May 25, 2010 at 11:00 AM
To: [redacted]

Hi, Eric:

"Happy Birthday"

On your 99th birthday, it occurs to me that you are most likely the senior and oldest living Knighted gentleman of Queen Elizabeth II. How about that !!

Regards, William

[redacted] <[redacted]> Mon, May 31, 2010 at 4:27 PM
To: [redacted]

Dear Bill:
Thank you for knighting me on my 99th birthday. If I were Chinese I would be 100 as they begin age count at 1 on one's birth. Unfortunately I do not know how to squint as yet. . Eric

In a message dated 5/25/2010 10:00:27 A.M. Central Daylight Time, [redacted] writes:

> Hi, Eric:
>
> # "Happy Birthday"
>
> On your 99th birthday, it occurs to me that you are most likely the senior and oldest living
> Knighted gentleman of Queen Elizabeth II. How about that !!
>
> Regards, William

---

william veach <[redacted]> Tue, Jun 1, 2010 at 9:59 AM
To: [redacted]

Hey there, Eric: I was long ago told that you had been knighted by the Queen. It couldn't have been Queen Victoria! Please confirm this info. William

From: "[redacted] <[redacted]
To: [redacted]
Sent: Mon, May 31, 2010 4:27:05 PM
Subject: Re: salutations from william veach

Dear Bill:
Thank you for knighting me on my 99th birthday. If I were Chinese I would be 100 as they begin age count at 1 on one's birth. Unfortunately I do not know how to squint as yet. . Eric

In a message dated 5/25/2010 10:00:27 A.M. Central Daylight Time, [redacted] writes:

> Hi, Eric:
>
> # "Happy Birthday"
>
> On your 99th birthday, it occurs to me that you are most likely the senior and oldest living
> Knighted gentleman of Queen Elizabeth II. How about that !!
>
> Regards, William

[redacted] <[redacted] Tue, Jun 1, 2010 at 2:27 PM
To: [redacted]

Dear Bill:
My only close contact with Queen Victoria was when we visited the Island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean and in the town square was a white marble statue of Queen Victoria. I saw quantities of pigeons on the statue and you could not tell it was once white. Eric

In a message dated 6/1/2010 8:59:51 A.M. Central Daylight Time, [redacted] writes:

> Hey there, Eric: I was long ago told that you had been knighted by the Queen. It couldn't have been Queen Victoria!
> Please confirm this info. William

From: "[redacted] <[redacted]
To: [redacted]
Sent: Mon, May 31, 2010 4:27:05 PM
Subject: Re: salutations from william veach

Dear Bill:
Thank you for knighting me on my 99th birthday. If I were Chinese I would be 100 as they begin age count at 1 on one's birth. Unfortunately I do not know how to squint as yet. . Eric

In a message dated 5/25/2010 10:00:27 A.M. Central Daylight Time, [redacted] writes:

Hi, Eric:

"Happy Birthday"

On your 99th birthday, it occurs to me that you are most likely the senior and oldest living
Knighted gentleman of Queen Elizabeth II. How about that !!

Regards, William

Gmail

Eric Newman <[redacted]>

Greetings from Bill Veach

1 message

william veach <[redacted]> Sat, Jan 1, 2011 at 12:05 PM
To: [redacted]

Hi, Eric: "HAPPY NEW YEAR !!"

I hope all is well with you. hope those tornadoes wern't very close to you! Enjoy.

William

Gmail Eric Newman <[redacted]>

Veach: Happy Birthday !!!

1 message

william veach <[redacted]> Wed, May 25, 2011 at 11:10 AM
To: [redacted]
Cc: [redacted]

Hi, Eric: "HAPPY BIRTHDAY !!!"

Congratulations on this, your 100th Birthday ! You've come a long way !

I hope this salutation finds you in good spirits. And, as I told Peter P. Gaspar, I hope you have "dry feet," because of the Mississippi River's flooding.

As for tornadoes, we don't have many of those things down here in florida.

Love to hear from you. william

Gmail Eric Newman <[redacted]>

Veach: 1773 Horse on Reverse

1 message

william veach <[redacted]> Sat, Jul 23, 2011 at 3:23 PM
Reply-To: william veach <[redacted]>
To: "[redacted]" <[redacted]>
Cc: "[redacted]" <[redacted]>

Hi, Eric: I hope this message finds you in bright spirits. Just a short note.

I know that you once mentioned that your eyes were not at their best way back in the early 2000's. So, I hope you can appreciate visually what I'm about to tell you.

I've attached a (Copyrighted) large photo of the Revese-V of a 1773 Va. Halfpenny, that Roger sent to me, recently. As I was reviewing it, I came to a major revelation that immediately disclosed a secret about the Horse in the lower, right quadrant of the Reverse-V (and all 1773 Va. Reverses).

All these years, I had just assumed from glancing at the Horse, that it was a romping bareback horse. Oh, not quite so! Upon ENLARGING that lower quadrant, I found that the Horse has a saddle. And in that saddle is a male rider (you can see his eyes). He' is looking right at you. You can even see his small leg and black riding boot. (Photo is in color)

If that isn't enough, there is a woman sitting in his lap. Her yellow panteloon legs are dangling down below the rider's arm. Her head is visible over behind the Horse's neck. You can see her two eyes and her mouth. She is a blonde!

I hope sharing this "secret" makes your day! But, just imagine, would you have thought years ago that the London Tower Mint had such a sense of humor?

****

Oh, and P.S.: I have Roger working on a new 1773 Va. die variety type set. It seems to be a "28-Q." It is a well worn, grade: "poor" or less. I've had it for many years, marked as an "unknown" variety.

But when you notice on Roger's pairing of Obverses with their Reverses, 4 Obverses were paired with Reverse-N. So, If Obv.-28 happened to be the 4th and last obverse paired with "N," then it would seem natural if #28 became paired with a new Obverse, "Q." We'll see. I've just mailed the actual coin to Roger.

The Reverse is a "Q," absolutely!! And the Obverse is not a #23, because when you draw a "radius line" from the center of the coin, across my coin, through the "tip" of King George's nose, and to the rim - - - The R in "REX" is 99% below this radius line. Whereas, The R in "REX" on the #23 Obverse, is 98% above this radius line. So, irregardless, we have a new animal, here! This should be interesting. Waiting on Roger.

See: 1-attachment Regards, William

1773RogercopyrightRevV130.jpg
225K

Copyright is property of Dr. Roger Moore of Moorestown, NJ